

Cases of Slow Genocide in the 21st Century

U.S. Naval War College, December 19, 2018

Opening Remarks by Admiral Harley

Mrs. Ruth Oppenheim, Kristallnacht Survivor, Honored Guest Speaker

Prof. Eric Reeves, Smith College, has established himself as an expert on the African country of Sudan. His research has covered all regions of both Sudan and the now independent South Sudan and includes recent political history and the various humanitarian crises that plague both Sudan and South Sudan. He has published widely on Sudan, both nationally and internationally, for almost two decades, and has frequently testified before the Congress and provided briefings to Congressional staffers. He is currently a senior fellow at Harvard University's Francois-Xavier Bagnoud Center for Health and Human Rights

Prof. Azeem Ibrahim, US Army War College is a specialist on the Rohingya genocide. Azeem Ibrahim is an RAI Fellow at Mansfield College, University of Oxford and Research Professor at the Strategic Studies Institute, US Army War College. He received his PhD from the University of Cambridge and has previously been appointed an International Security Fellow at the Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University and a World Fellow at Yale University. <https://www.brookings.edu/author/azeem-ibrahim/> <https://www.brookings.edu/events/the-rohingya/>

COL (Ret) David Cotter is Deputy Director, Department of Military History at U.S. Army Command and General Staff College. He is a Supervisory Assistant Professor in the Department of Command and Leadership at the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, KS. He has masters degrees from the University of Massachusetts and the Naval War College. He was previously a member of the faculty of the Department of History, U.S. Military Academy at West Point. He served in a variety of positions in the U.S. Army including command at Battery, Battalion and Brigade. Mr. Cotter is currently pursuing an MA in Holocaust and Genocide Studies at Gratz College.

Prof. Don Thieme - Naval Wargaming Virtual Community of Practice, CNWS, NWC. A seasoned military diplomat, scholar, foreign policy practitioner and teacher. Before retiring from the U.S. Marine Corps, Don served in a wide variety of infantry and Reconnaissance units that deployed throughout Southeast Asia, the Mediterranean, the Middle East and Horn of Africa. When not deployed, Don was an Olmsted Scholar (Uniwersytet Jagielloński, Kraków), a Council on Foreign Relations Term Member, and an MIT Seminar XXI Fellow. He was a personal advisor to the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff for NATO expansion, theater campaign plans chief for U.S. Central Command, and served seven years as a senior attaché in Warsaw and London, where he regularly analyzed foreign policy and recommended pragmatic actions to very senior U.S. and foreign leaders in pursuit of U.S. strategic objectives.

Location and Time: Mahan Rotunda / Library (1230-1630) – Refreshments at 1200

POC: Professor Hayat Alvi

Hayat.alvi@usnwc.edu

Office Tel. (401) 841-2034