

Everything You Always Wanted to Know About the Naval War College.... But Were Afraid to Ask!

An evening lecture for the NWC community including spouses, partners, and significant others of NWC students, faculty and staff.

Thursday, 1 November 2018

6:30 PM in Spruance Auditorium

This event is designed to help our spouses and significant others understand the college's curriculum and accompanying subject matter that the student body will be exposed to during the upcoming academic year.

For planning purposes the formal speaker's program will last about 70 minutes.

Highlights:

"Opening Remarks and Welcome" by NWC President, RADM Jeffrey Harley

"134 Years of College History in Ten Minutes" by Prof John Jackson

"Why is Alfred Thayer Mahan One of the Great Figures in History?" by Prof John Maurer

"Future Warfighting" by Prof Tim Schultz

"Building Ships: The International Program" by Prof Tom Mangold

"Issues in National Security Lecture Series" by Prof David Polatty

Attire: Very casual and comfortable!

No RSVPs needed; simply attend and enjoy
